From the Principal's Desk

More often than not we focus only on the challenges of our democracy and shortcomings of our policies and people. Absorbed in what is not being done, we forget to take notice of a wide variety of outstanding work done at home and abroad by people who prefer to act than to talk. Getting empowered and evolved is a continuous process for any society, where optimism and pride are catalysts that make each citizen a player in nation building. So many inspirational, one man army examples are all around us. A very visible participation of the young, who have courage to translate new ideas into reality, who dare to go on roads less taken; lights up great hope. Let us add to this enthusiastic, age no bar breed and add our might to making our land one of growth, justice and peace.

We also need to develop scientific temper and acquire quality skills to see results and stay motivated. It is time we make a conscious effort to cultivate a temperament to be the best in our craft and do everything as if we were born just to do that. Furthermore, all must get involved with what is happening around. It is our nation and any indifference to life around will one day boomerang to affect our own lives. Not only should we behave with great responsibility we must also demand it from others. In the words of Dr. Kalam, "Without your involvement you cannot succeed and with your involvement you cannot fail."

Loving one's country takes more than a thought. It is a way of living where every act helps to develop and strengthen the citizens and the country both at the same time. We must not forget that millions sacrificed themselves so that we could live free and prosper. We cannot fail them. Let us work well on ourselves and become an asset for India and for the world.

Big News!

Independence Day

India's 69th Independence Day was celebrated with immense pride and solemnity on 15th August. The day was marked with patriotic songs, dances, speeches, poems and street play, highlighting the importance of freedom and the story of India's growth. The occasion was graced by the Chief Guest Brigadier R. K. Singh, VSM. He unfurled the tricolour and took the salute along with the school office bearers. He focused on character building and conservation of environment, in his address. The principal motivated the students to play a constructive role in nation building and move ahead with optimism. The ceremony concluded with a vote of thanks by the school vice captain.

Founder's Day Celebration (26th August):

The 6th Founder's Day was celebrated as a social service day. Our guest of honour Ms. Sumangala Sapru from the Cancer Patients Care Association expressed her delight and gratitude for an overwhelming support in donating newspapers to the organisation. The money raised out of the sale of these newspapers is used to buy medicines for the cancer patients.

Class 9 Vega conducted an impressive assembly where they spoke about the ethos and mission of the school along with all different social service projects that are lending a helping hand to many NGOs working in the field of child care.

Movie Week (4th - 7th August)

The movie week celebrated learning, which as we all know, cannot be limited only to books. The venue was the Pre Primary AV room, where the children enjoyed the ambience of a theatre. A wide variety of movies were screened. Later during the teacher student interaction, children discussed the qualities of a good leader from the movie "Lion King", how eating bananas makes healthy and strong from the movie "Minions" and the importance of sharing and caring for friends from the movie "Pengu". Overall it was a wonderful experience for the children.

Our Canine Friends (24th August):

Known to be the most faithful companions of human beings, 'Peppy Paws' inmates came to our school where all enjoyed each other's company. Pre-Primary children not only played with the furry puppies they also got to know from the trainers a lesson or two on how to take care of them and how to be friends with them. Children gifted dog food to all the peppy paw dogs as a thank you gesture.

Let Us Keep Clean (24th – 29th August):

Though the first lessons on cleanliness start at home, school have their own role to play in imbibing the same within children. To be neat and tidy is one of the most important parts of education. During the 'cleanliness week' Pre-Primary children were spoken to about basic hygiene at home, school and in surroundings as well. We look forward to these young citizens making 'Swachh Bharat' drive a dream come true.

Road safety training by Yamaha (5th August):

Yamaha, one of the largest automobile companies was in our school to train children about how to use the roads while crossing or getting into a car or just walking and cycling. Road safety is essential for children's freedom, development and of course the roads need to be used with respect. Children were also taught about the importance of wearing a helmet and to always remind their parents and other elders to wear one while riding a two wheeler.

Guidance by the experts has definitely created a deep impact which will help keep our children safe on the roads.

Childline Workshop for Classes 4-9 (5th August):

We attended an informative workshop on Childline which was conducted by Mr. Acharya in our school. He enlightened us with the fact Childline India Foundation (CIF) is the country's first toll-free helpline for street children in distress. As of March 2014, total of 31 million calls since have been serviced. The service operates in 291 cities/districts in 31 states and UTs through its network of over 540 partner organisations across India. It provides shelter to homeless children, gives them education, provides food for poor children, etc. It reaches out to children from 0-18 years and in extreme emergencies to young adults up to the age of 25. The number that the children can call up in cases of emergency is 1098 which is a toll free number and can be accessed through any phone.

Personality of the month

Sundarajan Pichai, born on 12th July 1972, commonly known as Sundar Pichai is a technology executive who was announced as the next Chief Executive Officer of Google. He will step into the new position upon the completion of the formation of Alphabet Inc., the new parent company of Google.

He is the first person of Indian origin to lead Google. Pichai was born in Chennai, Tamil Nadu, to parents Lakshmi and Regunatha Pichai. Pichai is married to Anjali Pichai and has two children.

From early childhood, Pichai was curious and interested in his father's work who was a senior electrical engineer for the British Conglomerate General Electric Company, which got him attracted towards technology. He excelled in his school studies and earned his bachelor's degree from Indian Institute of Technology (IIT) Kharagpur in Metallurgical Engineering. He did his MS in Material Sciences from Stanford University and MBA at the Wharton School of Business in University of Pennsylvania. He worked at McKinsey and Applied Materials before joining Google in 2004.

In Google, he worked on the Google toolbar and then led the launch of the market-beating Chrome browser in 2008. He was also instrumental in the development of popular apps such as Google Maps. He rose quickly in Google and later managed development of all Google apps including Gmail and Google Drive. In 2013, he was given control of Android, which is an operating system for smartphones and tablets.

Pichai joins the big league of Indian-origin CEOs in at least half a dozen Fortune 500 companies. Sundar Pichai's hard work, sincerity and dedication towards his work has inspired millions of Indians across the world.

Virtue Alone Ennobles

The Quality of Mercy

Mercy should be as gentle as the rain from heaven and it should come from within. It is twice blessed. It blesses one at fault and the one who is faulted. It can be given by the mightiest as it the powerful weapon held by powerful men. It is a quality of God Himself. The king who is just is not remembered but the king who garnishes justice with mercy is remembered. The king's scepter shows the force of his power on earth, the power he shall lose as he dies and is not permanent, and is part of his awe and his majesty, which is why people dread and are scared of kings. However, mercy is above the influence and power of the scepter.

So whenever you think of that revenge to be taken, remember that mercy can be shown by the one who is powerful, that is you, as mercy is nobler than revenge.

From the Editorial Team

India is known to be a great country that has unique traditions and human values. We welcome people from all countries with respect and care. Someone had once wisely said "To be one, to be united, is a great thing. But to respect the right to be different is maybe even greater." In today's changing times, it is important that our children learn to accept, appreciate and respect the positive diversities around them. Let us use this freedom for the benefit of our people and our country. We at The Orbis School have always tried to achieve this through our scholastic and co-scholastic activities which stretch beyond the boundaries of textbooks and classrooms and a glimpse of the same is brought to you through Orbuzz every month.

Happy Reading!
